

Available Revel titles 2024

With Revel, students read and practice in one place, with interactive content and assessments integrated throughout the text to provide opportunities for them to explore and apply concepts.

Accounting & Economics

Revel for Accounting and Economics supports student understanding, containing case studies to help them apply theory to real life. Open-ended questions prompt students to think critically and allow educators to assign writing activities seamlessly within the course. These can be individual (journal entry) or involve peer discussion (shared writing). Keywords are hyperlinked to a glossary for easy access to definitions, and some Revel courses contain a graphing tool that allows students to deepen their understanding by interacting with data.

Business & Management

Revel for Business and Management contains interactive exercises to engage students, and case studies to help them apply theory to real life. Open-ended journal entry questions enable educators to integrate writing – one of the best ways to foster and assess critical thinking – seamlessly into their course. Some Revels also have shared writing activities that encourage peer discussion. Others contain MediaShare which makes it easy and meaningful to exchange and respond to videos, and hyperlinked key terms that take students to a glossary for easy access to definitions.

Psychology

Revel was originally developed by Psychology lecturers with Psychology students in mind. Difficult concepts are broken into manageable chunks, supported by interactives, and students can test their understanding and get instant feedback.

Learners practice critical thinking and writing skills through the journal entry and shared writing activities, and case studies help them apply theory to real life. Keywords are hyperlinked to a glossary for easy access to definitions, and some have full audio of the text so students can listen and learn on the go.
